TODAY'S ODDITY
ASHLAND, Pa., Aug. 7.—When Mrs. Catherine Berhle of Redding went to see John Snyder, 18, sitting in a tree in a record attempt, she found that he was her brother whom she had not seen for eight years. She had believed he was dead.

JAMES D. PHELAN CALLED BY DEATH
BILLINGS HEARING WILL BE HELD AT FOLSOM

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

Citizens of Richmond do not really appreciate our community. At least if they do, they say nothing about it.

Persons who have lived in other communities are loud in their praise of this city after they have lived here several weeks.

One new arrival here was especially enthusiastic about the city of Richmond.

This person, who has lived here slightly over a month, said yesterday:

"There is something about Richmond that attracts one."

"I don't think you will find any other city in the bay district with so many friendly people."

"I have only been here a month, yet I feel that I've lived here all of my life."

"When I walk down Macdonald avenue there are countless persons who stop and chat with me. If I have never met them, they introduce themselves."

"And the merchants of Richmond seem so obliging. The grocers and butchers here know what service means."

"And about every person I have talked to here, is a booster for Richmond."

"I don't think you will find any city with so many staunch, loyal citizens."

"This was evident at the Ford celebration when so many persons turned out for the parade and ground breaking ceremonies."

"I'm glad I live in Richmond. And I'm going to be a booster, too."

Every remark that this person made is true. Richmond is a loyal city. Richmond citizens, with one or two minor exceptions, are boosters for Richmond.

And before another ten years pass, you will find thousands of new citizens who are going to be just as staunch and loyal boosters.

LONG CAREER OF SENATOR ENDED

SARATOGA, Aug. 7.—UP.—Former Senator James D. Phelan died at his home here at 4:30 P. M. today.

The noted legislator had been seriously ill for several months and was unconscious for three hours before his death.

At his bedside when the end came were Mary L. Phelan, his sister; Mrs. Richard Doyle, a niece; Noel Sullivan, a nephew; Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Fay, Sr., life-long friends of the senator; two nurses, and his physicians, Dr. Jau Don Ball and Dr. Louis Mendelsohn.

Was 69

The cause of death was ascribed as circulatory troubles induced by the statesman's long illness, which commenced with a bronchial attack May 5.

The physicians had held no hope for his recovery since a relapse two weeks ago.

Senator Phelan was 69 years of age.

He was born in San Francisco on April 20, 1861, the son of James and Alice Kelly Phelan, who came to this state in '49. The elder Phelan became a dealer in provisions and amassed a large estate, which gave his son wealth and position while he was young.

College Man

From 1881 to 1893, however, the man who was to become United States Senator set out to establish a reputation of his own. After graduating from St. Ignace college of San Francisco, and studying law at Hastings college and the University of California, he wrote articles for many periodicals, usually on political or literary subjects. During these years he also studied political history, the arts, and literature, and traveled.

In 1893 he became chairman of the board of the United Bank and Trust Company in San Francisco and was appointed vice-president of the California commission to the Chicago exposition.

Three years later Phelan was elected mayor of San Francisco, breaking the machines of famous political bosses, and holding the office for three terms.

Was Regent

From 1906 until 1913 he devoted himself primarily to the rebuilding of the Golden Gate city after the fire and earthquake, and served in a number of prominent positions, among them being a regent of the University of California.

NEW STORMS THREATENING FLOOD CITIES

NOGALES, Ariz., Aug. 7.—UP.—Menacing clouds and rain tonight added new fears to the population of the twin cities of Nogales, Ariz. and Sonora, Mexico, where five persons are known dead in the swollen waters of a cloudburst.

Eight persons still were reported missing, 3,000 were homeless and property damage was estimated at $500,000.

The flood waters receded during the day leaving a scene of muddy desolation behind and Mexican soldiers, peace officers and citizens were digging into the debris of wrecked buildings when the skies again darkened and rain started to fall.

THIRD SAVED FROM ANGRY CROWD

MARION, Ind., Aug. 7.—UP.—A crowd of 4,000 persons, inflamed by cries of youths and young girls rushed the Grant county jail tonight, tore iron doors from hinges and hanged two negro prisoners.

One of the youths was said to have confessed to murdering a white man and attacking his girl companion, was trussed to a barred window at the jail. The other was dragged, kicked and beaten half a block to the lawn of the court house where he was strung up to a tree limb.

The victims were identified as Tom Ship, 18, and Abram Smith, 18.

Crowd Screams

Boys and girls, old men and young, shouted and screamed and hooted. Sheriff Jacob Campbell, his deputies and police officers were helpless once the excited mob was organized for a grand rush.

Sledge hammers and heavy bars quickly tore down the iron doors from the hinges, once the tear gas

Envoy To Face Balm Action

SAN FRANCISCO, August 7.—Miss Frances Hodges today filed suit for $500 heart balm against G. M. Landon, of Berkeley, former United States aide to the Chinese government, claiming that they were to be married August 17, and Landon "changed his mind."

Miss Hodges claimed, in her suit, that she had planned for the wedding, spent $500 on a tressade and resigned her position as private tutor in a local family.

According to her complaint, Landon, who had just returned from China, after spending 10 years there proposed to her on February 5, and on July 18, called off the wedding.

Lawyer Tells Of Wife Death

STINNETT, Texas, August 7.—A. D. Payne, Amarillo, Tex., attorney today confessed to police that he placed three sticks of dynamite in his automobile, causing an explosion that killed his wife and injured his young son.

He requested that he be hurried "through the electric chair."

When his wife was killed, Payne offered $500 reward for the person who could give any information leading to the arrest of the killer.

Marriage License

William C. Anderson and Miss Alice Maloney, both of Richmond, applied for a marriage license in Martinez this week and will be married at the St. Mark's church, August 16.

2 RESCUED FROM SHIP

TRIAL TO BE RESUMED ON WEDNESDAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 7.—UP.—In one of the strangest actions of history, the seven justices of the California Supreme Court will go to Folsom prison to see Warren K. Billings, convict, it was decided today.

The unprecedented "trial," with the barred prison reception room as a court room instead of the plush hung chambers to which the justices are accustomed, will be held probably next Wednesday.

The legal tangle which makes it impossible for the court to summon Billings to San Francisco, where the court is sitting on his application for pardon, arose out of the law under which the hearing is being held, which makes the court a fact-finding body of individuals, without authority to subpoena prisoners.

Make Trials

Under this interpretation, Warden Court Smith of Folsom prison would be guilty of technically aiding an escape if he acceded to the request for Billings' appearance.

All other legal makeshifts, such as convening a court proper long enough to order Billings' appearance, then adjourning as a court and reconvening as a fact-finding body, were discarded, and Chief Justice William H. Waste announced today that the justices were

TAX SLASH FOR MARTINEZ

MARTINEZ, Aug. 7.—With the taxable valuation of Martinez showing a marked increase over last year, the city council last night cut four cents from last year's tax rate making the 1930-31 rate $1.16.

Starting next Monday, the council will sit as a board of equalization to hear protests for 10 days.

According to the announcement last night, one dollar of the rate will be used for the general fund and 16 cents for the bond interest and redemption fund.

The large increase of taxable valuation in the city, which amounted to almost $2,000,000 is due in great part to the increased amount of oil being stored by the Shell and Associated Oil companies in the city.

Mount Everest Flight Planned

BERLIN, Aug. 7.—Plans for a daring airplane flight over Mount Everest, the world's highest peak were announced today by Walter Mittelholzer, Swiss aviator.

The aviator, who is now in Berlin, was the first to fly across Africa and the Alps.

Mount Everest is 29,141 feet above sea-level.

COURT ORDER DELAYS HOP

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7.—UP.—A court order tonight stood in the way of Capt. Frank Hawk's plan to take off from here Sunday in an attempt to lower Colonel Charles Lindbergh's air record of 14 hours 45 minutes and 23 seconds from Los Angeles to New York.

The order was secured by Mrs. Newell Vaughn, former wife of the flier, and called for Hawks to appear in court Monday to show cause why he has not paid his wife a judgement of $10,635.69. Mrs. Vaughn contended successfully in Superior Court a few months ago that Hawks failed to repay money she gave him before and after their marriage. They were divorced in 1924.

Captain Hawk's landed here last night after setting a new record between New York and Los Angeles.

Those who sought to escape punishment by refusing to go home Wednesday afternoon were Priscilla Morrill, 8, and her brother, Howard, 10, Edward Watts, 10, and his brother Harry.

They went to Pinole, where they found the bridge that they slept under all night.

Shortly before they disappeared they were reprimanded by Patrolman Charles Penning for taking soda water from a delivery truck.

Crew Of Air Mail Plane Lost

BERLIN, August 7.—An airmail plane from Stockholm that has been missing with its pilot and mechanic since last night was found in Valdemarsvik bay.

The fate of the two members of the crew could not be ascertained.

LOCAL TUGS BRING SHIP HERE

Two men were rescued from a sinking fishing craft off the Berkeley waterfront yesterday by the Golden Gate ferry boat "Golden Shore."

The sinking sloop was towed to the Richmond waterfront and beached by a freight launch of the Richmond Navigation and Improvement company. A second tug, owned by the local company, stood by during the towing.

The two men rescued by the ferry were Capt. T. E. Pansey, 137 Thirtieth street, Oakland, and John Redmond, of Sausalito.

Boat Sinks

The two men were enroute from the Berkeley pier to Sausalito in a 40-foot power sloop, the "Union" owned by H. C. Union Fish company, when the craft sprung a leak and started to sink.

The tug "Governor M. B. M." captained by H. P. Lauritzen of Richmond, was near the scene and speeded toward the sinking craft.

Before they could arrive the ferryboat halted, lowered a life boat and rescued the two men on board the ill-fated craft.

BOND VOTE AT WALNUT CREEK

WALNUT CREEK, Aug. 7.—A resolution of necessity to hold an election for a vote upon a proposal to expend $65,000 for construction of a distribution system was passed last night by the Walnut Creek City Council, making decided progress toward solution of this section's vexatious water problem.

Next Wednesday City Attorney George Barkley will present an ordinance that would authorize the bond election.

At the same time it is probable the council will fix the date of an informal advisory election at which citizens will be able to express their preference for either service from the Eastbay Municipal Utility district or the California Water Service corporation.

Five Fires In City Yesterday

Starting with a grass fire in the morning and climaxed with a house fire at night, the Richmond Fire Department had a pretty busy day yesterday.

Four other grass fires were quelled yesterday, one at Second street and Barrett avenue; another at Potrero avenue and Forty-second street; the third at Twenty-eighth street and Cutting boulevard, and the fourth at Forty-seventh street and Cutting boulevard.

The home, which caught fire last night, was at 110 Martina street, Point Richmond, and was the property of Mrs. Rose Stout.

The fire originated in the basement of the house, which was open and firemen believe children may have been playing with matches.

The fire was brought under control by the crews of Engine 1 and 2, and Truck 4, the firemen also quenching a minor blaze at the house next door, owned by Tim Morley. Sparks from the Stout house are believed to have caused the slight conflagration in the Morley home.

Department members had not determined the damage caused by the fire last night.

WEATHER

Fair but with fog today and tomorrow; mild fresh winds.

COTTAGE TO BE BUILT

J. W. Forbes was yesterday given permission to erect a cottage and garage on the west side of Thirty-second street, between Esmond and McBride avenues, by the office of A. J. Hurley, City Building Inspector. The cost will be $4500 and the owner will do the work.

Pete Silvestri was also given a permit to build a rear porch addition on a home located on the north side of Pennsylvania avenue between Seventh and Eighth streets. The work will cost $10.

Foundry Will Reopen Monday

Irvin Hovgaard, superintendent of the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing company's plant in Richmond, announced yesterday that the foundry at the plant, which has been shut down for six weeks, will resume operation next Monday.

According to the announcement the operations will be at a limited capacity for the time being, but it is expected with a general revival of building the plant will soon be back to normal.

MAILS SCORES NIGHT BALL GAMES

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 7.—"One of these nights a pitcher is going to be hit in the head by a line drive and I'll bet the newspapers won't print a line about his funeral."

It was none other than Walter "the great" Mails, the old Cleveland southpaw, popping off about the dangers of playing under the arc lights.

"I'm going to quit baseball and join a pick and shovel gang," said Mails after he pitched for Portland in the opening night series against the San Francisco Missions. "Or else I'm going to take out $25,000 additional life insurance and do a lot of praying."

All of which gives the general impression that Pacific Coast league players are very much against night baseball.

Pitchers generally contend they can't see line drives and ground balls hit at them. Bert Cole and Herman Pillette, now with the Missions by way of the Chicago White Sox and Detroit, looked on from the dugout at them from the pitcher's box, appearing puzzled on two fast bouncers that he ordinarily would have handled easily during daylight.

Joe Cascarella, Portland hurler, late of the Eastern league, said that a pitcher at times loses sight of a ball when it is driven back at him at night.

Many of the hurlers are ready to duck after pitching. The powerful lights are centered over the infield and hide the white ball when it is shot back with speed.

Infielders, too, have difficulty in trapping ground balls. Jimmie Cronin, Portland shortstop, late of the Athletics, and Bill Riel, second baseman, down from the Boston Braves, are not keen about the night league. Cronin said he felt lucky when he nailed some of the fast boppers.

Apparently the hitters have a slight advantage although some will tell you that the ball is extremely difficult to follow at times. Homer Summa, brilliant ball player of the Beavers, late of Cleveland and the Athletics, has found this out. He has a keen eye, yet Herman Pillette's shrike could hardly be fathomed as it dropped down and into semi-darkness.

No matter what the players think of the game it very likely will be the vogue during the summer months—at least this summer. It's a novelty with the fans and there's nothing quite like a fad of any sort to catch the American public. It has increased attendance and that's what the magnates are interested in.

Ladies' night has been such a success that Thomas L. Turner, president of the Portland club, has designated Thursday and Friday as free for women. And Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights are free to boys in Portland. Thus dad can bring the wife and kids out two nights a week and have an evening for six bits. That's certainly a throwback to the days of horse and buggy entertainment and "all you can eat for a quarter."

Football Meet To Be Held By Legion Tonight

Dan "Hap" Bradley, manager of Richmond Post of the American Legion football team for the ensuing season has called a meeting of prospective football players for 8 o'clock in the Memorial hall tonight.

A get together meeting was held in the hall last Friday night, but due to many of the former players being away on vacations, only a few gridders were present.

Bradley asked that anyone interested in playing with the local team this year, attend the meeting tonight, so that he may be able to determine how the team will size up this year.

PAINFUL CORNS Loosen—Lift Out

A little known Japanese herb, the discovery of an eminent German scientist (Dr. Sticker) instantly soothes the corn, callous or wart, then loosens it so that shortly you can lift it right out. This new discovery called "Corn Fly" excites the white blood corpuscles to action and granulates the corn at its root so that it drops out and leaves no trace of scar or soreness.

You will also find "Corn Fly Foot Bath Powder" a boon for sore, tired or perspiring feet.

"Corn Fly" for corns, 35c. "Corn Fly Foot Bath Powder," 25c, and "Corn Fly Bunion Remedy," 50c, (all three—$1.10 value—for $1.00), are sold under a positive money-back guarantee by Hi-Gene Co., Newark, N. J., or local druggist.

Legion Junior Baseball Games Planned Soon

Morton M. David, of Denver, has been appointed commissioner in charge of the American Legion Junior baseball regional series to be played in Stockton, August 14 and 15, according to an announcement by Russell Cook, director of the National Americanism Commission of the Legion, at National Headquarters in Indianapolis, Ind.

The teams playing in the regional tournament are the state championship nines of California, Utah, Arizona and Nevada. The winner of the regional tournament will participate in the Western Sectional to be played at Colorado Springs, Colo., August 21, 22, and 23. When the Sectional championship teams are decided they will meet for the Junior World Series honors to be determined at Memphis, Tenn., August 28, 29 and 30.

David was elected National Vice Commander of the American Legion at the Louisville convention last year. He is also a member of the National Americanism Commission of the Legion. He was one of the organizers of the American Legion in Colorado, and served as state adjutant of the organization for five years. He also served as state historian, state service officer and Junior Baseball chairman for Colorado.

During the World war David served in the Infantry and Quartermaster Corps. He is now practicing law in Denver.

CARNERA BOUT AUGUST 14 DOUBTFUL

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—UP—Although Primo Carnera declares he is through fighting "set-ups" and is willing to meet any heavyweight in the world, it is doubtful that he will be given an opportunity to go through with his proposed fight at White Sox park, August 14.

Primo and his manager, Leon See, arrived in Chicago yesterday but found that Promoter Migue Malloy had not secured a satisfactory victim for the proposed bout. If an opponent is found Carnera's appearance will depend on the Illinois State Athletic Commission which has barred See.

"I will not allow Primo to fight unless I can manage and second him," See said. "We don't care who the opponent is, but unless the Illinois commission reverses its action and grants me a license there will be no fight."

"Primo is ready to fight any fighter in the world. He can beat them all and we are willing to put up a substantial side bet that he can knock out any man he meets in six rounds. If he doesn't we not only will pay the debt but will refuse our share of the purse."

Carnera was scheduled to meet Bombo Chevalier in the "battle of vindication" but for some reason—possibly the chance of the Oakland Negro again refusing to "dive" and forcing Primo's handlers to renounce their towel throwing stunt—he has been dropped from consideration. Malloy is now attempting to publicize his show by whiting challenges to Schmelling, Sharkey, rank heavies, who either are out of training, Champolo and other first the country or out of training.

State Golf Matches To Draw Many

DEL MONTE.—UP—With the closing date for signups for the California Amateur Golf championship still several weeks away, many entry blanks have already been received for the event from noted golfers throughout the state.

Aug. 30 is the last day for sending in entry blanks and the tournament will be held Sept. 10 to 17.

Entry blanks should be sent to the tournament committee, Hotel Del Monte.

Among the prominent followers of the little white ball who have already indicated their intention to play for the California title are:

Dr. Harry Brownell, Monterey; Walter O'Brien, San Mateo; Nat Boas, San Francisco; H. D. Bullock, Monterey; J. E. Neville, Pebble Beach; Johnny McHugh, San Francisco; Harry Cole, Long Beach; Charles Seaver, Los Angeles; Robert H. Donnell, San Diego; A. Bullock Webster, Hollywood, and a number of others.

MANDELL TO ATTEMPT A COMEBACK

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—UP—Sammy Mandell former lightweight champion, today was reported planning a comeback attempt under the management of Eddie Long, one-time partner of his present manager, Eddie Kane.

Mandell has been quoted as expressing a suspicion he was "doped" in his fight with Al Singer and is understood to blame Kane for lack of protection preceding the fight. Friends of the former champion say he is eager to return to the ring and wants a return bout with Singer, who defeated him for the lightweight title. He is convinced that he can make the 135-pound limit without trouble and reverse the result of the previous bout if Singer will give him a chance.

California Girl In New Net Victory

EAST HAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 7.—UP—Another surprising victory for Dorothy Weisel of Sacramento, latest California tennis sensation, featured today's matches in the Maudslowe Invitation tournament. Miss Weisel, who has no national ranking, advanced to semi-final round by defeating Marjorie Gladman, Santa Monica, Calif., ranked No. 3 nationally, 6-2, 2-6, 6-1.

Sarah Polfrey, Boston, won a hard fought match from Ethel Burkhardt of San Francisco in the quarter finals, 6-8, 7-5, 7-5.

PROGRAM AT LADIES AID SESSION HERE

Following a short business session a delightful program was enjoyed by members of the Ladies Aid society when they held a general meeting yesterday in the hall of the First Presbyterian church.

Under the direction of Turner Eacker a group of young musicians made their first public appearance for the entertainment of the church society.

Violin solos were presented by Johnny Hayes, aged ten, an exceptionally talented young violinist; piano solos were played by Lois McKenna and Little Hazel Mae Bowen, who are only four years of age, presented a vocal solo.

Mrs. J. F. Spires presided at the business meeting during which many plans were laid for future activities.

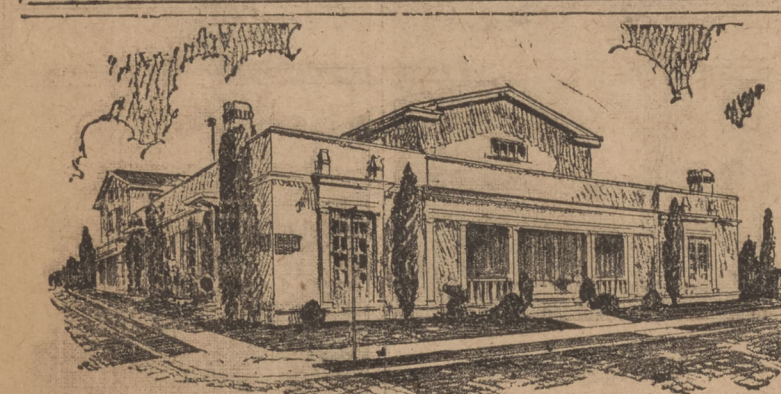

A social afternoon and refreshment closed an enjoyable session. Mrs. H. C. Bowman had charge of the day's program and Mrs. W. F. Cooper headed the refreshment committee.

OBERHOLTZER IS PASTOR AT SAN RAFAEL

Accepting a call to the rectorship of the St. Paul's Episcopal church in San Rafael, Rev. H. I. Oberholzer of St. Edmund's Episcopal church of Richmond has submitted his resignation as vicar here. He and his family expect to move to San Rafael about Sept. 1.

Rev. Oberholzer has been at the local church the past seven years and has endeared himself to all who have known him. The St. Edmund's church has shown a substantial growth since he has been its pastor, and the congregation and church officers have accepted his resignation with reluctance.

The pastor has been actively identified with the Ministerial Union and the Church Fellowship, and his many friends will regret to hear of his planned departure.

Rev. Oberholzer and family came to Richmond in 1923 from Tacoma, Wash., and have made a multitude of friends in local circles.

WAR MOTHERS WILL HOLD WHIST PARTY

At a meeting of the American War Mothers held yesterday afternoon in Memorial hall, plans were completed for a candidates' whist party to be given in Memorial hall, Monday evening, August 18.

Mrs. F. W. Bradbury will be chairman of the event. A valuable door prize will be awarded and many other interesting prizes have been obtained.

An invitation is extended to the public and proceeds of the party will be used for the disabled veterans' relief fund.

Entertaining members of the Thimble club of the American War Mothers, Mrs. Bradbury will open her home at 418 Bissell avenue in the afternoon of August 14, for a quilting bee.

Several of the local members plan to attend the benefit tea to be sponsored by the Vallejo chapter today in Vallejo.

SAN PABLO AID IN PLANS FOR DINNER

Meeting in the church hall yesterday members of the San Pablo Baptist church Aid Circle No. 1 entertained members of Circle No. 2 at a business and social afternoon.

During the business session plans were completed for a candidates' supper to be held on the evening of Thursday August 21. All candidates are invited to attend and a cordial invitation is extended to the public.

Members of the two circles are soon to enjoy a winter roast which is to be held at one of the local beaches, the date of the picnic has not been definitely decided however.

Axtell Party Returns From Tour of Europe

After nearly two months of travel in the European continent, the party of travelers under the guidance of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Axtell, have returned to Richmond.

Leaving shortly after the close of school the party first visited in England, then toured through Belgium, Germany, where at Oberammergau they saw the passion play, and through France and Italy.

An Alpine tour and a stay in Paris proved two of the most interesting adventures of their trip. Visits were made in Rome, Florence and Venice and they missed the great earthquake disaster by only a few days.

Numbering the party were, besides the E. H. Axtells, Miss Tressa Dell Axtell, Miss Anna McLaughlin, Miss Theresa Bartscher, Miss Klyde Whiteley, Mrs. Annette Brandt, and Miss Louise McLaughlin.

1ST. CHRISTIAN MISSIONARY GROUP MEETS

Mrs. Clara Bradshaw opened her home at 735 South Forty-first street for a meeting of the Missionary society of the First Christian church, yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. J. E. Tarr, president of the society opened the session with a short business discussion. The ordering of the Christmas cards for the Missionary fund was debated.

The Missionary study followed, led by Mrs. W. F. Downing, who was assisted by Miss Nannie Nesbitt, Mrs. L. C. Stotelmeyer and Mrs. C. C. Kratzer.

At the close of the Missionary meeting a pleasant program and shower were given honoring Mrs. J. H. Hultman.

Contributed to the program were several very entertaining numbers. Miss Margaret Brown presented a delightful reading, "Little Pink Toes." A vocal solo, "Mighty Lak' A Rose" was given by Mrs. J. E. Tarr. Mrs. Downing entertained with a reading, "A Child's Birthright" from President Hoover. The "Doll Lullaby" delightfully presented by little Miss Maxine Cooper as a vocal solo. Mrs. Downing served as accompanist.

Dainty refreshments were served to the guests at the close of the enjoyable program. Composing the refreshment committee were Mrs. O. F. Barley, Mrs. W. J. Bray, Mrs. C. H. Bradshaw, Mrs. P. M. Black and Mrs. O. A. Clark.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Fred Watson, 129 Twelfth street, on September 4.

Mrs. Lois Colby Paid Honor At Bridge Luncheon

In honor of her house guest, Mrs. Lois Colby, a delightful bridge luncheon was given recently by Mrs. J. R. Spring at her home on Roosevelt avenue.

Bridge honors were won by Mrs. Beatrice Craig. Mrs. Ellis Hirsch of Berkeley and Mrs. Hazel Jennings of San Francisco.

Among the other guests were: Mrs. Nina Vickery, Mrs. Anita McPherson, Mrs. Nina Terry, Mrs. Mollie Bonham, Ms. Grace Siple, Mrs. Mae Marshall and Mrs. Rose Rosier.

Mrs. Colby has been a guest at the Spring home for several weeks and will leave Sunday by way of airplane for the south.

Rev. Earl Haney Visits in City

Visiting in Richmond recently were Rev. Earl W. Haney former pastor of the local First Presbyterian church, with Mrs. Haney, and her father, Dr. McAllister.

En route to their home in Eagle Rock from a vacation in Oregon, they spent a pleasant evening in Richmond visiting with old friends.

Rev. Haney has been a pastor at the Presbyterian church of Eagle Rock for the past three years, having accepted a call there from Richmond.

After a month's vacation spent in Salt Lake City and Yellowstone National park, Miss Grace Timmons has returned to her home on Mount street. She was joined by friends in Salt Lake City, who accompanied her to the park.

Bible School At Stege To Close Tonight

With the closing of the Stege Presbyterian vacation church school tonight, one of the most successful sessions ever held will be closed. Exercises will start at 7:45 in the main auditorium and all parents and friends are cordially invited to attend.

The program will be broadcast over radio station KSBA and Rev. and Mrs. H. A. Kern will be present.

The call to worship will be given by Francis Reynolds, and the school motto by Allan Coe. Miss Joyce Thomas will give the address of welcome and the girls' glee club will sing. Other numbers will include a poem by Arvid Madson, clarinet solo by Forrest Thompson, vocal by Jack Willis; piano and saxophone duet by Cleo Chalmers and Dorothy Gundry, and other features. Under the direction of Eva Anthes and Frances Fowler, the primary children will demonstrate what they have learned during the school.

Following a business meeting of the F. B. Junior lodge in the Woodmen hall last night, the drill team held a practice.

A short meeting of the adult lodge was also held during which candidates were balloted upon.

Dr. Cunningham Home From Trip

Dr. W. E. Cunningham and his daughter, Helen, have returned to their home on Twenty-eighth street from a pleasant week's fishing and camping trip at Requa, near the mouth of the Klamath river.

They were accompanied by Miss Viola Treanor and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Dresser, of Fresno. Miss Treanor expects to leave shortly for Big Basin, where she will spend a week at the Girl Scout camp at Chapparel, as she is a Girl Scout official.

Tells How Fat Men Can Lose Half a Pound a day

Here's a simple way to get rid of that corporation and quickly feel in both body and mind the joy of living.

It's a safe way, too—for every day you continue this easy method of losing unwanted and unneeded flesh, you'll gain in energy, vigor and endurance.

Nine times in ten obesity means inactivity—it means that your blood is starving for the six vital salts your internal organs need to keep you youthful, active, ambitious and keen in mind.

When you take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts every morning in a glass of hot or cold water you get these six vital salts which modern foods and cooking do not supply.

Start taking Kruschen Salts—that's the common-sense way to reduce—but don't take them with the idea that they possess reducing qualities in themselves.

This is what they do—they clean out the impurities in your blood by keeping the bowels, kidneys, and liver in splendid working shape and fill you with a vigor and tireless energy you'd most forgotten had existed.

The urge for activity will be so marked that even at the end of a hard day's work, you'll feel ready for any social activity or recreation—you can play as hard as you work.

And after two weeks your excess flesh starts to go—you'll know it—feel it—see it—the scales will tell the story.

As one corpulent man remarked: "I feel so energetic that I want to get up with the lark and I'm just as lively as a cricket."

Kruschen Salts is not a purgative or a cathartic, but a real system conditioner and for those who are the victims of constipation or toxemia its daily use soon means splendid regularity.

Get an 85 cent bottle of Kruschen Salts—lasts 4 weeks—at LaMoine Drug company, or any drug store.

JACK OAKIE IN FILM AT THE FOX

Paralleling the rapid rise of Buddy Rogers to screen stardom is the quick ascent of Jack Oakie, whose first portrayal as a stellar luminary is that of Marco "Soldier" Perkins in "The Social Lion" which comes to the Fox-California Theater tomorrow.

Buddy's earliest general recognition as a favorite came with "Wings." He gradually built up his following in "Get Your Man," "Abie's Irish Rose," "More Work, Less Pay," and "My Best Girl." By that time the public demand naturally brought him stardom.

Jack Oakie started as a featured player in Clara Bow's "The Fleet's In." That was in July, 1928. Then he appeared in "Someone to Love." Came talks, and Jack was assigned to "The Dummy," "China Town Nights," "Close Harmony," "Fast Company," and "Sweetie." He was loaned to RKO for "Street Girl" and "Hit the Deck." After that his general popularity brought him a much-deserved elevation to the position of a star in the ranks of Paramount actors.

"The Social Lion" is based on Octavius Roy Cohen's story, "Marco Himself." It has to do with the fortunes of a young garage mechanic who plays polo so well that he is a wealthy country club in his town. But he makes the mistake of thinking that he can become number 399 in "the 400" and that, where all the riotous fun begins.

Bow Film To Close At Fox
Theater Today

Let's go Clara Bow! Those who snapped up the entertainment treat the "IT" girl offered at the Fox-California theater last night had an hilarious evening. She is there for the last time today, and for a joyful good time go Bow!

Clara has more "IT" than she ever showed before in "True to the Navy." Surrounded by a dozen or more love-smitten navy gals, she shows what is good for the male ego. None of the boys make any headway with the "Redhead," Frederic March, the same handsome hero who stole her heart in "The Wild Party," lands right. Then Clara gets a taste of her own medicine.

"True to the Navy" would be a good story even without Clara Bow. With Clara flashing her "IT" smile, it's a dandy all-around entertainment. Harry Green, the funny man of "Kibitzer" and "Honey" is a riot of laugh-making cracks and pantomime, and the rest of the cast looks as it ought to.

Clara, a soda-fountain girl in Harry Green's drug store makes "IT" a big business. All the sailors from the battleships in the harbor flock to the drug store for ice-cream sodas and a smile from Clara. She plays them all, collects the souvenirs and says goodbye with a smile. She has a special boy-friend on every ship and manages to keep them separated until the whole fleet and all her special drop anchor at once. She is sunk, drop anchor at once. She is sunk, drop anchor at once. She is sunk, drop anchor at once.

Clara's singing voice is one of the big features of "True to the Navy." She croons "There is Only One Who Matters to Me" as nobody else could. It's no wonder all the sailors believe her when she says it. Clara looks marvelous as she sings the number. She sings with her voice, with her eyes, with her whole body, with all her personality. And Clara Bow's singing is all the more delightful because it is a surprise talent.

MILITARY MEN WILL ATTEND
CONCLAVE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 7.—Military "big shots" galore will be in attendance when the annual state convention of the American Legion convenes at Sacramento, Aug. 18 to 20. State Adjutant James K. Fick said today.

The national commander of the American Legion, O. L. Bodenhamer of Arkansas will be among those present, as will Major General Logan Peland, commandant of the U. S. Marines of the 12th naval district.

Major General Peland will be the grand marshal of the big parade of veterans which will be a feature of the convention.

The general has an almost unequalled record. He was with the Fifth Marines of the second division at Belleau Wood during the World War and was awarded the Croix de Guerre distinguished service cross and the distinguished service medals of the army and navy.

Officially representing the army and navy at the convention will be Major General John L. Hines, commandant of the Ninth Corps area, and Rear Admiral Josiah McKean, retired.

Citizens' committees, co-operating with the Sacramento Legion post, are completing elaborate plans for entertainment of the visiting Legionnaires.

Athletic contests, drum and bugle competition, a grand ball and other features will enliven the convention between the routines of business.

BOARD MUM ON EXEMPT TAXES

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 7. — Because it is not a court, the state board of equalization will not attempt to decide the constitutionality of taxing interest from government bonds or royalties from patents and copyrights under the new corporation income tax act.

Fred E. Stewart, of Oakland, member of the board from the second equalization district, made this announcement here today following determination of several appeals taken from the action of the franchise tax commissioner.

Relying upon provisions of the new law requiring the 4 per cent tax to be paid on income from all sources, the commissioner had made additional assessments against a number of corporations on account of their refusal to calculate taxes on this basis.

Taxpayers questioned these assessments upon authority of United States Supreme Court decisions invalidating Massachusetts statutes purporting to tax exempt income. In addition, the board found that the Supreme Courts of Washington and Tennessee had made similar holdings in those states last June. However, the United States District Court had ruled a short time before that a New York law taxing income from copyrights was constitutional.

Confronted with these conflicting views, Stewart said that although the equalization board was unable to find any marked distinction between the situations in Massachusetts and California, it would hesitate to hold the local statute invalid. Commenting upon this phase of the problem in its decision, the board explained its position thus:

"The power to declare a law unconstitutional is one of the highest attributes of judicial authority. Although we sit in these matters as a quasi-judicial body, and must decide questions of law as well as of fact, we should not lose sight of the ultimate fact that we are not a court but merely an administrative board.

"It might be argued that, if the law is plainly unconstitutional, why should taxpayers be put to the trouble and expense of going to the courts for a decision? However, there is diversity of opinion as to the constitutionality of the act, and it seems to us desirable that this controversy should be settled by the courts, whose authority to hold acts of the legislature invalid cannot be questioned."

It is said that a number of corporations receiving patent royalties and moving picture companies owning copyrights will be affected by the board's ruling, as well as banks and other corporations investing in government securities.

PRIESTS TO BE WELCOMED AT DINNER

A reception to be given by the Catholic people of Richmond to the four new pastors of the St. Mark's, Our Lady of Mercy, St. John's, and St. Paul's churches, will be held at the Hotel Carquinez Wednesday night, in the form of a dinner party.

A committee headed by Charles Ryan, representing the Catholic Societies of the district is planning the affair.

The pastors to be honored are Rev. M. Crotty of the St. Mark's church; Rev. P. Ryan of the Our Lady of Mercy church; Rev. John P. Casey of St. John's church, and Rev. E. Tozzi of St. Paul's church.

Ryan announced the dinner will be open to all Catholic people of Richmond, San Pablo and El Cerrito, and reservations may be made at the hotel office until next Tuesday.

Among the allegations McKenzle said Billings will be able to disprove is that of Estelle Smith, "star witness," that she saw him near the scene of the preparedness day blast under suspicious circumstances and that Billings was an intimate of the McNamara brothers and other dynamiters.

Cunha To Return
Cunha is scheduled to return to the witness stand when the hearing is resumed next Tuesday.

With Tom Mooney, Billings is serving a life sentence for perpetrating the bomb explosion in San Francisco on July 22, 1915, which took the lives of ten persons.

Mooney's application for pardon rests with Governor C. C. Young. Under California law, Billings' appeal must be decided by the supreme court, because of a prior conviction of a felony.

cast a line aboard the Union, but was unsuccessful.

The freight barge "Maggie," owned by the local company with Geo. Lauritzen as its captain, followed the "Governor M. B. M." and the crew of the "Maggie" was finally able to secure a line to the "Union."

The craft was towed to the Richmond waterfront where it sank in a few feet of water on the mudbanks off the San Francisco bridge company's property on the inner harbor.

Small Damage

The "Union" will be raised today. Damage to the craft is estimated as nominal.

A cargo of tank staves, which the craft carried on its deck, was washed overboard.

Still not satisfied with her handiwork, Mother Nature kept blowing her searing breath over the fields in many places, with all green things, drying streams and wells, clamping tightly the lid on the production of foodstuffs.

The Kansas City district entered its third month of drought. The Mississippi valley was so dry that forest fires became threatening after 81 days without rain in middle Tennessee. The Mississippi river usually muddy yellow in color, was a light clear green, because of its shallowness.

Indiana, Missouri, Illinois, and the northwest all were in similar case in spite of occasional showers, most of which merely caused the landscape to steam.

In other instances where nature relented enough to cover the brilliant sun with clouds and pour rain upon parched fields, she loosed cloudbursts and near tornadoes which did as much damage as had the drought.

Heavy showers in the Blue Sonora hills of northern Mexico sent floods roaring into the twin cities of Nogales, Ariz., and Nogales, Sonora today. At least five persons were known to be dead.

In the midwest, lightning storms, hail, and minor tornadoes all took their toll of damage.

STATE BAR TO CALL FOR SCHOOL

LOS ANGELES, —UP—A proposal to place a higher hurdle in the path of legal novitiates by adding an educational clause to the present requirements for admission to the California bar will be considered by the State Bar Assn. at its Sept. 20 meeting in Pasadena.

The recommendations were embodied in a report of the amendments committee released today by Hubert T. Morrow of Los Angeles, chairman.

The proposed amendment provides that any citizen 21 years old and of good moral character with a state residence of at least three months, and who "possesses the necessary qualifications of learning," is entitled to admission.

It is also provided that an examining committee appointed by the board of governors shall ascertain the qualifications and conduct necessary examinations.

The educational requirement to be fixed by this board shall not, under the proposal, exceed:

Graduation from a high school or proof that the applicant possesses the equivalent of such an education in intellectual competency and achievement;

Graduation from a law school, or proof that the aspirant to legal practice has studied law at least for four years.

The report pointed out that the educational requirement is not unreasonable because the rule for school attendance is alleviated by the fact that evidence of "intellectual competency and achievement" is sufficient to allow the applicant to take the state bar examination.

The education hurdle is a new state legal rule inasmuch as the old law contains no educational requirements at all, but simply stipulates that the applicant must have studied law in good faith for three years.

California, it was said, has been trying for years to raise the standards for legal education. The law given by the state bar act of 1927 was closed again last year when the legislature deprived the state bar of its right to fix educational requirements.

In explaining the new attitude, the committee stated:

"The practice of law is so intimately connected with, and so influences governmental problems and social questions of the nation, that admission to the practice must be considered at least as much from the public standpoint as from the desires of the individual who asks the privilege of entering the profession."

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7.—UP—As three thoroughbred dogs and two angora cats looked upon a court procedure that was beyond their understanding, a superior judge ruled that they should not be put to death because their mistress "wanted their company in the hereafter."

As a deathbed request Mrs. Charles Witherman, who died last month, asked that her pets be executed in a painless manner "as nobody can love them like I do."

"As there is no evidence that these animals are guilty of having committed a crime, I, at this time, issue a restraining order prohibiting their death," Judge Walter Hanby announced.

Attorney Griffith Jones, appearing for Mrs. Nancy White, a Pasadena society woman, defended the dogs and cats.

He argued that the animals should be sold to the highest bidder and that the money be turned over to the state school fund.

The dogs, two setters and a spaniel, are valued at about $3,000. The cats also are pedigreed and worth a considerable sum.

The fact that telegrams and cablegrams came from all parts of the world asking that the pets be spared, indicated that they will have their choice of many homes.

MOB STORMS JAIL, KILLS PRISONERS

supply of the defenders had been exhausted. The sheriff would not permit use of firearms in defense of the jail.

Large holes were knocked in the brick wall leading from the jail to the cell corridors and the mob leaders quickly obtained the two accused. Forty other prisoners were not bothered.

Crowd Returns
As the negroes were dragged from the jail, they were kicked and beaten furiously before ropes were strung about their necks.

The crowd deserted the jail, meanwhile, and the sheriff made an attempt to bar it up.

Soon the crowd milled back to the jail where it demanded Herbert Cameron, 16 year old negro companion of the two men who were hung. Officers had announced that all three had confessed participating in the attack upon Claude Deeter, 23, who was mortally wounded, and his sweetheart, Miss Mary Bell, 19, who was attacked.

Third Taken
A third negro finally was taken from the bull pen of the county jail. He was escorted to the northeast corner of the public square, within sight of the corpses of the two dead men, still dangling from trees.

The negro youth's terrified cries finally caused some of the leaders to decide that maybe he was not the man wanted. He convinced them that he had been in the jail two weeks. The mob waived and started back to the jail with the prisoner.

The negro was returned to the sheriff's custody.

Crowd Leaves
Deputy Sheriff John O. Fryer stepped to the jail porch, raised his hands and obtained quiet.

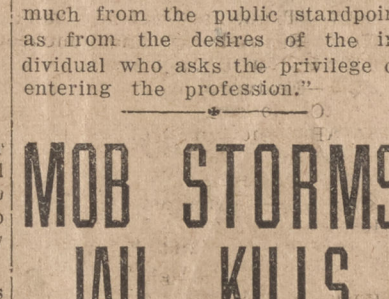

"You've got the right fellows, boys," he said. "Now don't go making any mistakes. We got a dozen negroes in the jail and you've just brought back one of them that didn't have anything to do with the affair."

"You're right, John," someone shouted. "Let's go home."

EL CERRITO ARRESTS RUM CARRIER

El Cerrito has made a name for itself as a josh to rum carriers. In the early part of the week a car, built especially for the carrying of liquor, according to police, was picked up on San Pablo avenue, and found to contain 150 gallons of illicit whiskey.

Yesterday Traffic Officer Howard Thulen spied the same car driving along the street, and when he stopped it, discovered it contained another 150 gallons of booze.

Gene Delamilla, 37, of San Francisco, his wife and baby were the occupants of the car, the man now being held in the El Cerrito city jail awaiting hearing before Police Judge A. G. Thompson.

The men arrested earlier in the week, Mamel Pontes and John Davis, both of San Francisco, were released after each paid $500 fines for a reduced charge of illegal possession of liquor.

THE WOMAN OF IT

Holiday Hint for the Unwed

MRS. MILES BISHOP of Pittsburgh has just obtained a decree of divorce, after making, to Judge George V. More, the following entirely seasonal accusation against her husband:

"Why, he made me take long trips in the woods with him and sleep out under the stars and out from the trees!"

Enough said. Divorce granted. Plenty of wives will sympathize with the sufferings of Mrs. Bishop. Plenty of husbands will heave a sigh and wonder how Miles got away with it as long as he did.

Since we happen to love sleeping outdoors, and had rather sit on a beach or a fallen log and eat sandwiches than dine under a roof on roast duck and Hebe Molau, we were at first inclined to think Miles' wife unduly captious. On reconsideration, however, we could see that there are things to be said for her point of view (she undoubtedly has said them repeatedly). After all, if you are the sort of person, male or female, who doesn't like camp holidays, that is the sort of person you are, and you have as much right to your legitimate preferences for, let us say, hotel dining rooms and country club piazzas as we and Mr. Miles Bishop have for living like simple savages when we get the chance!

WHAT this Bishop divorce proves, however—and we'd like to stress the point—is that one of the wisest advance precautions for compatibility in married life consists in picking a congenial playmate. Hill men should marry hill women. Sea lovers should wed sea lovers. Those who like their vacations wild should seek their kind, those who prefer dressed-up holidays should do likewise.

Somewhere in the world, a wife ought to take an interest in her husband's work, and up-to-date commentators suggest that the husband ought to take an interest in his wife's work. It seems to us much more important for the happiness of the pair that each be interested in the kind of play preferred by the other—interested to the point of wanting to share it and its natural environment.

After all, a husband and wife seldom work together in the same place and at the same job; if each is an interested and sympathetic listener to what the other has to say about his (or her) daily toil, that should be their both.

But when a man and woman are sufficiently in love to marry, they naturally want to spend their holiday days in the same place doing the same things. When they discover that their recreational preferences lead them in different directions, there seems to us a tragic waste of happiness!

WE KNOW a man who was born loving the ocean, who spent holidays of adolescence and young manhood at the beach, who wrote beautiful poems to the sea. And married, a charming woman who couldn't bear sea bathing, because it wet her hair and disturbed her poise, who thought intolerable the glare of sun on sea-sand, who had spent all her summers in the White Mountains and never wanted to spend them elsewhere. She went to the shore once or twice after she was married—liked it and said so. Then her father built a delightful summer home among her beloved, purple-shadowed hills. At ten years her husband renounced bravely, that he really liked the mountains now as well as he once had liked the sea!

Another man, of our acquaintance exulted in the pine-sweet breath of the Adirondack camps and sought them for many a summer. He married a girl whose notion of holiday happiness was a dilly dive and swim through cobalt waves. Nowadays the couple spend their summers at the beach.

When husband and wife have diametrically opposed views of what constitutes a vacation, one of the two has to make a sacrifice if they are to take their vacation together, and they want to do that—even though the cynics may not believe it—if they care.

HOW much simpler and smoother it like gravitates to like in the first place—if those marry who like to amuse themselves in the same way and geographical surroundings! We are thinking of the happy weekends enjoyed by the newly married, splendidly congenial young couple in whom we are most interested—the two who work hard all the week in their separate offices and then, on Friday night or Saturday, run away in their second hand car to a glorious two days of sleeping, eating, swimming, basking, racing on an eight-mile unenclosed Long Island beach, pounded by clean green water. We are thinking, too, of our own fourteen happy summers with another in a beach bungalow, our daily swims together, our week-end scooting about the bay in a two-piece motor boat built for two.

It might almost be a motto for happy marriage—take care of the holidays and the working days will take care of themselves. If you'll only pick beforehand a playmate whose vacation tastes agree with yours, you'll save so much recrimination, or so much self-sacrificing "adjustment," afterward!

COLOR

A crimson bathing suit was all the beach. Score had to offer her that day, and so she took it, she whose duty was to teach. The city young, and consequently go through life in prim and proper garb.

With much misgiving she slipped on the robe; a change took place. The scarlet flooded through her slatted and checked, washed all the past from mind. She gayly fled, set free at last, down to the sea, a woman born anew.

ETHEL KING.

Woman Failing to Use Water Is Hit by Speaker—Headline. But surely this failure is far more frequently masculine than feminine!

LAMENT

A career isn't awful—I'm married, you see. Doing nothing is awful—I'm sorry for me! DOROTHY SELIGSON.

JUST LIKE A WOMAN

Mr. Coolidge, according to a Boston despatch, lost his wife in the State House corridors during the terecentary exercises. But that's the version of a chivalrous reporter. What really happened, as every husband knows, is that Grace wasn't paying attention to where she was going.

"DAD, are we going to the country for our vacation this year?"

"No, Son. I guess we'll go to the shore."

"Aw, gee, Dad. I don't like the shore."

"You don't like the shore? I thought you had a good time at the shore."

"Aw, there's nothing but sand and water and mosquitoes at the shore. Dick Travers is going to the country. I want to go to the country."

"Why do you want to go to the country, just because Dick Travers is going?"

"Naw, I want to help the farmers make hay, and hunt eggs in the barn, and see a real cow."

"So I can find out how they get the milk into the bottle. How does the cow get the milk into the bottle?"

"Oh, go to bed."

A DISH A DAY

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

During these warm days few housewives want to spend enough time in the kitchen to do baking on any large scale. Simple, light foods, simply prepared, are more palatable at this time, and much more attractive, particularly to the one who has to do the cooking. Yet there are certain delicacies which keep the summer menus from becoming monotonous and are well worth the trouble of preparing.

Hot muffins are always a welcome addition to a luncheon at which the main dish is cold salad, or at supper when cold meats are served. Particularly attractive at this time are blueberry muffins, which combine the firm, moist texture of the muffin with the crisp, light blueness of the berries.

In buying the ingredients for these muffins do not make the common mistake of demanding the best in the market. Special, large blueberries, which are the result of long experimenting in New Jersey, come packed in cellophane and retail at from 55 to 80 cents a quart. These are a justifiable extravagance when they are to be served raw with the breakfast cereal, but for cooking ones should buy the more humble blueberry, which is much smaller and less expensive.

BLUEBERRY MUFFINS

1/2 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons shortening
4 tablespoons sugar (brown or white)
1 egg
2 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
3/4 cup milk
3/4 cup blueberries

Mix and beat together salt, shortening, sugar and egg. When well blended add little flour which has been sifted with the baking powder, then a little milk, then a little more flour. Reserve one-half cup of flour to mix with the berries. If bread flour is used it may be necessary to use almost one cup of milk to make a soft batter. If cake flour is used three quarters of a cup of milk will be sufficient.

When most of the flour and all of the milk has been beaten in the batter, dredge the berries with the remaining flour and stir them into the batter gently. Bake in a hot oven (400) for twenty-five to thirty minutes, or until they are lightly browned. Push them slightly from the edge of the pan.

Fresh Headlines for Mid-Summer

By Ann Roberts

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1

WHEN you look at that old rag of a costume—so new and all in May—you wonder what on earth besides the trusty iron will make it look young again. Well, try a hat—one with a midsummer tone to it—one distinct for this season, not suitable to be worn at any other time. For, you know there are those hats—the wider brimmed, the more informal, the lighter colors. All these look good and new and pep up your lighter dresses magnificently, whereas with the first whiff of cooler weather their day will be no more.

It pays to make the investment in a couple of new hats right now. Nothing can look sadder than a summer hat that has lost its pristine freshness. Really, you might just as well understand, if you have not already realized the fact, that summer hats are, in the long run, the most expensive of all. You see them begin to sag and droop. With faith you pinch and fold and straighten out their brims and before you have gone a block, you feel the lopping about your ears with that certain disastrous lassitude. You know then that they have begun to lose their hold on life and the only thing to do is to buy a fresh batch and call it a summer.

There's more hope for winter when hats are made of sturdier stuffs than straw. Wider brims are summer's own possession and they do soften that tired look about the eyes which heat and sun and all are so apt to leave in their wake. You take a wider brimmed hat with glee once you get a whiff of its power to flatter. But—here comes the important warning—temper the size of the brim to your height. The taller you are the wider should be the brim, for width in this connection has the power to chop off your stature, and a narrower brim on a short person looks wider, if you know what I mean.

Rough straws with wide brims are the season's charmingest. You can

The Guest Room

A luggage stand in the guest room would show consideration for the guest's comfort. They are so convenient for getting at the suitcase and they can be folded up when not in use. They come in walnut, mahogany and maple. A camp stool will answer the same purpose.

Clothes hangers are so inexpensive that a sufficient number can be placed in the guest room closet to enable the guest to hang garments properly. If there is no closet, place a clothes tree in the corner of the room.

Allow your guest the privacy of her room. Admonish the children to keep out of the room and do not enter yourself without asking permission. This is just an act of courtesy your guest will appreciate.

Threats

MILLIE wouldn't drink her milk. Her mother coaxed and bribed, but to no avail. At last, she said, "You'll die before morning if you don't drink it." Millie looked startled, but being a courageous youngster, decided to take a chance. Next morning as soon as she awoke, she ran to her mother, triumphantly declaring, "I didn't drink my milk, and you see I didn't die." How much confidence will she have in her mother's warnings in the future?

Sooner or later, the children see through these foolish, lying threats, and lose entire confidence in their parents. Then, when these parents warn them about green apples, or ice too thin for skating, it is the old story of "Wolf! Wolf!" They are not believed.

Some of the little ones, however, are very gullible and fearful, and consequently believe these horrid tales for many years. They lead a sad existence, constantly shaking in fear of something terrible happening to them. Youngsters of this kind are very easy to manage. All one has to do to get them to drink their milk, or sit still, or come the moment they are called, is to threaten dire consequences. But at what a price this ready compliance is purchased! Are not these little ones being robbed of all initiative and independence? Are they not becoming weaklings? How will they be able to meet life's battles? It seems so easy to manage little tots through threats. They rise so spontaneously to one's lips. But how many children become nervous, fearful, weak little adults because of them?

Besides telling the little ones about all sorts of gruesome things that happen to naughty children, parents often threaten them with punishment. "If you do that again I'll spank you, or tell father, or take you home," one constantly hears them say. And if the child does repeat the offense, how often does the "promised" punishment follow? Very rarely. The result of such handling is that the youngster, nine times out of ten, takes a chance that his mother doesn't mean what she says, and does as he wishes. When, once in a while, the threat is carried out, the child feels very much abused. It is most unfair to treat children in this way! They should know where they stand. We should not promise them a treat or a punishment, unless we mean it, and are prepared to carry it into execution. They should be able to bank on our word. How many threats would be choked back if we knew that what was promised had to be carried out?

If we tried very hard, don't you think we could manage our youngsters without threats?

BYRD GETS READY AGAIN

ADMIRAL BYRD has started preparing for his next heroic feat. "When will you leave on your next great exploit?" he was asked. "This expedition is due to start Sept. 15."

"How long will you be gone, Admiral?"

"Approximately a year and a half."

"What is the purpose of your next expedition?"

"To discover lecture dates and lyceum circuits that McMillan, Stefansson, Amundsen and other women's club favorites have never charted before."

"Will you suffer many hardships on this expedition, Admiral?"

"The suffering will be intense. You cannot imagine the agony of even a seasoned explorer waiting for the Presidents of women's clubs to wind up long-winded introductions."

"What other hardships must be endured?"

"Well, it is often pretty difficult joining in the Rotary Club luncheon songs, remembering to call the Kewananas, Bill, Kenneth or Elmer, and the strain on one's throat is terrific joining in the Lions Club roar."

"Will you travel by dog sled from lecture date to lecture date?"

"Unfortunately, no. I shall travel by train. It would be pleasant to mush along behind my dogs and get frostbitten now and then, but I shall have to suffocate in Pullman berths instead."

"What supplies will you take along on your lecturing expedition, Admiral?"

"First of all, I try to wear earplugs so I won't hear the preliminary oratory before I speak, but some times it is hard to adjust them. Then I take along twenty cases of penicillin to gnaw on in preference to the rubber chicken at hotel banquets and of course I have forty-eight tanks of ice water or lecture juice, as it is called."

"What instruments will you carry on your dash through the lyceum circuits?"

"I have a sextant for measuring the length of my lectures and a pocket micrometer to detect any audience yawns. I also carry a portable short-wave radio set, to keep in touch with the operator in the projection booth. Sometimes he is miles behind me in changing the stereopticon slides."

"Will you have any sledges along with you this trip?"

"No. The presiding officer usually supplies his own sleds."

"What are your sensations, Admiral, when you are out in the wilderness of these lecture dates?"

"You are vast stretches of unfamiliar faces, relieved only by the occasional crunching of peas. You have a terrible feeling of loneliness and yearn for the sight of a feather bed."

"Do you ever see mirages out of these lyceum circuits?"

"Well, once in a while you see an open date ahead of you and you struggle toward it. But it is usually filled before the time arrives."

"Are there many uncharted places you expect to discover this winter, Admiral?"

"Yes, indeed. There are towns on my itinerary that haven't had a visiting attraction since Sousa's Band played a matinee there in 1893. One place I discovered on my route has never been touched by an 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' troupe. I intend to raise Old Glory there and claim it for the United States."

"What benefits to science will your lecture trip bring about, Admiral Byrd?"

"My trip will prove this country is suffering from a surplus of entertainment committees."

THIS AND THAT

Charity covers a multitude of sins, but Earl Carroll's nude dancer was named Faith.

On paper, the Giants should beat out the Dodgers for the pennant. But unfortunately the gammas are not played on paper.

Calvin Coolidge has been running a column for five weeks now without spending a nickel for either a paste pot or some scissors.

Among the winners of this year's endurance contests are those folks who live next door to a loud-speaker.

Prohibition Parade to Be Three Miles Long.—Headline.

That's walking more than a mile for a cause.

The ordinary golfer would be satisfied to have as many ash trays in his home as Bobby Jones has loving cups.

Of course Lindy's first baby will cut its first tooth on a parachute ring.

Kids all over the Middle West are sitting in trees for endurance contests.—News Item.

You can't continue as they're not cherry trees. And they're not endurance contests, either.

The duty of communication with the spirit world is that you never seem to get the wrong number.

FLOOD CITIES THREATENED BY STORMS

that other victims may be children as empty cribs were seen floating away after the downpour.

The homeless thousands were quartered on surrounding hills in tents furnished by a nearby American Army post as relief trains from Tucson, arrived with supplies. Red Cross officials appealed to San Francisco and Washington, D. C. headquarters for additional aid.

Mothers and fathers plowed the mud in search of their children. Shortly after the flood struck, cribs were seen floating away, their tiny occupants believed to have been drowned.

Wall Of Water

Accumulating in the Sonora mountains, the raging 10 foot wall of water struck the cities at 1:30 this morning. So intense was the storm no one had a chance to flee from their beds.

J. J. Lowe, chief of police of Nogales, Ariz., organized rescue workers soon after the flood hit. His men were searching the Santa Cruz river beds for bodies.

"It may be days before we are able to thoroughly search the sand and debris," Lowe said. "As soon as the confusion quiets down we will be able to make a more accurate check on the dead and missing."

Wires Down

Communication wires were snapped as poles fell under the rush of water. Until dawn, rescuers groped through the darkened streets, covered with water, in search of survivors and dead. Improvised lanterns aided materially in making the first investigation of the stricken area.

More than 50 adobe homes across the International line were swept from their foundations.

Southern Pacific of Mexico passenger trains plying between here and Mexico City were delayed several hours. The torrents of water swept away a trestle, and about 100 feet of main line trackage, officials reported.

Cars Overturned

Freight and passenger cars standing on tracks in the Sonora city were flooded, and several cars were overturned.

Carcasses of horses, cattle, chickens and rabbits dotted the main streets of the two cities. Parked automobiles were tossed about like bottles on a heavy sea.

Foundations of hotels, saloons and other buildings were undermined, but there was no fear they would collapse.

Business Hit

Business was at a standstill as merchants, riding on rafts, made down the streets to their establishments to take inventory of their stocks.

The storm was not devoid of its heroes and heroines, two women living in a Sonora resort first saw the raging waters and dashed through the streets of the city shouting 'cloudburst, cloudburst!' many men endangered their lives in rescue work.

Two of the dead persons, a man and his wife, were trapped in their adobe hut. Their bodies were carried three miles across the International boundary by the raging waters.

Tourists Flee

Throughout the confusion, police officials were besieged by pleas from Mexicans to hunt for their loved ones.

"Every Mexican inhabitant," Chief Lowe said, "told us his wife and children were either dead or missing. Their reports are unreliable."

Tourists from California, Texas and surrounding states stopping at Nogales, Ariz., camps were forced to flee from tents and cabins, as the waters swept all frail obstacles into the Santa Cruz river.

Weather bureau officials forecast rain and thunderstorms for this region tonight and Friday.

Cape Cod Hit By Forest Fire

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Aug. 7—UP—Forest fires that raged for two days in the vicinity of Cape Cod were brought under control today by 2,000 firemen and volunteers.

Estimates of the damage ranged around $250,000.

The cranberry industry, most flourishing in the section, was hard hit. Approximately 18,000 acres of scrub pine were charred. One estate and 24 summer camps and cottages were destroyed and ten motor cars, including three pieces of fire apparatus, were burned.

The Barnstable County hospital where 42 children and 25 adults are confined, was threatened twice. Ambulances were parked at the institution while the menace remained. Pocasset Sanitarium also was endangered.

Notice To Public

My wife, Blanche Schwab, having left my bed and board, this is to give notice that I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by her, on and after August 6, 1930.
